

Story options

1.

We were all transported to an alien planet that was covered with soft toys the size of elephants. When we landed, we got separated and lost each other...

Then to find each other we had to use our special sound.

2.

We were all playing outside together when suddenly the whole neighbourhood became covered in bubbles. Someone had put too much soap in the water fountain! We lost each other...

To find each other we had to use our special sound.

3.

We were hiking through the jungle having lots of fun, when all of a sudden we got separated and lost each other...

To find one another we had to use our special sound.

