- organises space to engage in dramatic play, eg identifying the different areas of an imagined shop in their play.

ENGLISH

EN3-5B Discusses how language is used to achieve a widening range of purposes for a widening range of audiences and contexts.

EN3-8D Identifies and considers how different viewpoints of their world, including aspects of culture, are represented in texts.

- 2. Teacher directs the students to move in some way e.g. hopping, skipping, jumping etc within the boundary.
- 3. After 30 seconds, the teacher blows the whistle and calls out a number between 1-10.
- 4. The students stop moving and make groups of the number the teacher called out. If there are any students over, this will be discussed after the game.
- 5. Teacher selects a new action.
- 6. Students move using the new action for 30 seconds.
- 7. Teacher blows the whistle.
- 8. Students stop moving.
- 9. Teacher calls out a different number between 1-10.
- 10. Students move into groups of that number.
- 11. Teacher directs all students to sit on the floor.
- 12. Whole class discussion about the game

Reflective Questions:

- Was everyone included in the game?
- Did anyone miss out getting into a group?
- How did it feel if you missed out on being included in the group?

LEARNING

Group Activity: In Character

- 1. Teacher directs students to look at the 'dress-up' resources being provided, e.g. wigs, walking sticks, hats, scarves, clothes, eye patches, blindfolds.
- 2. Teacher brainstorms with the students what they think they might do with them. Display suggestions on chart paper or interactive whiteboard.
- 3. Teacher provides suggestions/ Scenario Cards for students to explore 'in character' in their given scenario. Option: Printer Friendly Scenario Cards
- 4. Teacher puts students into groups of 4 or 5.
- 5. Teacher allocates a scenario to each group.
- 6. Students have 10 minutes to explore their given scenario in character. Students are encouraged to use any dress-ups or props available.
- 7. Teacher observes, monitors, talks to students, records on a device as they are in their groups.

Class Activity: Reflection

- 1. Students return dress-ups to the allocated area.
- 2. Students return to the floor, or space directed by the teacher.
- 3. Teacher displays photographs and videos of students completing the activity (if applicable).

4.	Teacher directs discussion as a whole class giving each group time to respond to the reflection question: Visual: What does it look like? Sound like? Feel like?

- What did it look like to be 'someone else' 'in character'?
- What did it feel like to be 'someone else' 'in character'?
- What did it sound like to be 'someone else' 'in character'?
- 5. Teacher may choose to record responses on chart paper or the interactive whiteboard under the 3 elements of the question.

Conclusion

1. Teacher and/or students (if technology - iPads, laptops are available) access an appropriate story from the Inclusion and Diversity QR Code Books resource.

Teacher note: if not able to access this resource and QR codes, select a different story to read showing inclusion. Examples:

- 10 children's books about inclusion

ASSESSMENT

Discussion

Teacher Note: Differentiate any assessment to student's needs as required.

- 1. Teacher asks each child as the lesson completes how they would include a child/family member (with a diverse need) in a particular scenario (e.g. skipping game in the playground/local park).
- 2. Alternatively, this activity could be done by the students drawing a picture showing inclusion of a child with a diverse needs in an activity.

Adaptations, Considerations and/or Adjustments

Note: Think about how this lesson may affect students in your class and make any of these adaptations that you feel necessary. Physical: Student/s participate in the activity at desks if the floor is not accessible due to mobility.

Vision: Ensure students are seated near the front of the room to view visuals/videos. If using visuals it may assist to increase the size of font or pictures.

Hearing: Hearing impaired students may need support through further visuals, or headphones with sound turned up to a suitable level.

Sensory: A student sensitive to noise may wish to use headphones. A student may not wish to be part of a group in an imaginative scenario. Encourage the student to choose a classmate to do the activity with. Playdough, construction material or a drawing could be options to 'performing'. Have a quiet space available for a student with hyper-sensitive sensory needs if required.

A student sensitive to lack of routine, noise, having to share, working with other students may have their own self-regulating strategy to use e.g. a safe/quiet spot, a stress toy. Offer choices to ensure engagement/participation.

Non-verbal: Teacher can refer to Scenario Cards, Printer Friendly Scenario Cards multiple times as needed.

EAL/D: Teacher can refer to Scenario Cards, Printer Friendly Scenario Cards multiple times as needed. A device with the Google Translate app may assist with translation of scenarios.

Other: Students who are not comfortable being 'in character' may be offered an alternative role in group e.g. narrator.
